4 reasons to be careful at work

When it comes to preventing accidents, each of us has four responsibilities:

First, we have a responsibility to ourselves not to get injured.
Second, we have a responsibility to our families: when we are injured we are unable to provide for them.
Third, there is the responsibility we have to our co-workers. Our actions must not endanger our fellow employees.
Fourth, there is a responsibility we have to our department. Employee injury has a negative impact on the productivity and health of the whole department.

Steward Observatory Safety Committee